Use data about the low-income students at your school to create a list of low-income students. Students who qualify for the National Free Lunch Program, National Reduced Lunch Program, or both, are considered low-income. The National Free and Reduced Lunch Guidelines are updated annually and can be found here: <https://www.fns.usda.gov/school-meals/income-eligibility-guidelines>. When creating your low-income student list, be sure to separate students based on the public school district in which they reside. If you have questions while completing this list, please reach out to Kaitlyn O'Leary at
