From the Superintendent ...

Recently, at the bank, I asked the teller to look up my personal information so that I could update my on-line password. She asked if I was still an electrician. Well, no, but I hope that I bring the light to others. A stretch, but worth a smile. During this Advent season, I think of the many ways that our schools uplift the message of light in a season of darkness. This is our opportunity to shine! As you celebrate your many traditions that focus on preparations for the Christ Child, use this time to truly communicate and market the message and purpose of your school...to bring peace and love to our world through the hands and hearts of our pre-schoolers to our seniors in high school. We inspire our students and their families to use their many gifts to build God's Kingdom. Please know that in the Office FOR Catholic schools, we lift you up daily in prayer believing that you are helping our world become that place where the Christ child can be born truly bringing light to all.
